Thought: Mary Hyland, First Vice President, who, at the Executive Board meeting the night before, gave clues about the identity of a tenacious Yankee with a winning pitch. Unfinished Business: None

New Business:

Strategic Plan Ad Hoc Committee - Elaine Hendrickson will chair this committee which President Donna has reestablished for her biennium. Committee members are welcome to contact Elaine.

Reestablish the Ad Hoc Archives Committee - President Donna will reestablish this committee, which needed to be dissolved at the end of President Elaine's biennium. Elaine and Donna agreed that the task was not yet complete. Volunteers for the committee's work are Lorraine Bowden, Judy Gilbert, Suzanne Gauthier and Kathy Wilcox.

Clara Soule Presentation - Dawn MacPherson-Allen, Debbie Hillman, Teresa Brzustowicz gave a presentation about Clara Soule, a teacher and activist in Portland, Maine who gained national recognition for her work with immigrants. She arranged educational classes and social services, particularly for women, to help them move forward in their new home. Ms. Soule also was a supporter of retired teachers who were living on meager retirement funds.

The report proposed that Ms. Soule's legacy has been lost to us over the years, even though we have continued to keep her name alive through committee work in our local chapters and the state organization.

This fund is used for members who may be suffering from illness or other difficulties and may need monetary support. Limited amounts of funds make it difficult to award meaningful help. The committee recommends that a.) chapters continue the work they are doing on behalf of Clara Soule at the local level and b.) that the guidelines for using state funds be revamped. Some kind of chapter fundraising may be needed to increase this fund. One suggestion was a "bakeless bake sale". Instead of baking, members would donate toward the fund.

The goal is to increase the fund in order that members in great need would be able to request help.

Discussion: Crystal Ward suggested that the State Organization has access to the Roberta Rogers Fund and that 15% - 20% could be moved to the Clara Soule account. Dawn MacPherson-Allen said that the committee would consider this proposal, but she feels that the funds can be raised another way.

Announcements: Gamma Chapter's professional development offering will be Authors Among Us, a discussion of the writing process. It will be held at the Viles Center in Augusta, Maine on October 26, 2019.

Mainspring Articles are due on March 1, 2020. Articles may be sent to Joan Wentzel before the deadline.
